Ego States

Child Ego State

If our child consciousness or ego state is reacting, for example, we may demand that our needs get met right now by those around us. We may feel small and weak or guilty. We may be unwilling to take responsibility for the situation in which we find ourselves and become withdrawn, detached, distant, or overly insistent about our needs.

Adolescent Ego State

If the part of us that contains our adolescent energy reacts, we may sound sarcastic and feel rebellious. From this level of consciousness, we frequently act in ways that do not support our larger life vision. We may refuse to be told what to do. Sometimes we may clearly say we won't fulfill a request, or we may just passively avoid doing it. We may be unwilling to express how we truly feel about a situation and think others have control over our life.

Critical Parent Ego State

We sometimes approach life from our inner parent. This part of us can sound as though we know what is best for others, more than they know for themselves. From this ego place, we can be inflexible, hypercritical, disapproving, righteous, and judgmental with ourselves and with others. When functioning from our inner parent we also can try to defend, shield, and rescue those around us, thus becoming the overly responsible hero parent.

Adult Ego State

From our adult state, we are able to consider our options and respond effectively to a situation. We are connected to our own sources of wisdom -- our feelings, inner guidance, and intuition. We are able to take healthy responsibility, rather than too much or too little. Instead of acting out of unconscious emotional states from the past, we make choices about situations from the present moment.

What Shamans Know From Secrets of Shamanism

Shamans know about energy and how it works both in the environment and in the human body. They recognize the inherent power in all of nature and sense their own connection with it. They know about the spirit body and how to communicate with it for health and extra stamina.

A woman with long reddish-brown hair, wearing a blue dress, stands in profile on a grassy bank looking out at a large body of water. The scene is captured during sunset or sunrise, with a warm, hazy glow over the water and sky. The water's surface is covered in gentle ripples. In the foreground, a concrete path is partially visible. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.

They have learned to relax their physical bodies and to reduce their level of stress so that they are more receptive and efficient. They are able to quiet the mental chatter so that they can hear, see, or feel the internal message.

A full moon is visible in the sky, partially obscured by the silhouettes of trees in the foreground. The moon is bright and circular, with some surface details visible. The trees are dark and out of focus, creating a sense of depth. The sky is a clear, pale blue.

Shamans use the powers of their inner vision and imagination to journey for knowledge and for vital information. They have learned to recognize that these clues and symbols are important, and they believe that they are worth listening to. They learn how to suspend judgment and trust their inner guidance.

They learn to work with natural images and symbols from within and know how to interpret these to overcome obstacles and problems. True artists, they often bring their symbolism forth into ritualistic song, dance, movement, and rhythms.

Shamans learn how to understand people and how to work with them in a healing fashion. They have excellent insight into people's character structures. Shamans know how to laugh and have learned to be detached enough from the drama of life to find the human condition amusing.

They learn to communicate both externally and internally at the same time. They truly have a foot in both worlds at once and lose track of neither. they alter their views about linear time and suspend beliefs in the limitations of the human mind.

Shamans learn how to be successful and they certainly know how to take action when called for. Shamans are not armchair philosophers. They have practical skills for handling dilemmas. They have become comfortable with paradox.

They know how to shift levels of consciousness at will. They are as comfortable with ecstatic states as with ordinary waking consciousness. This gives them a flexible nature, able to handle change easily.

Shamans are disciplined and persistent in their attempt to gain power and apply it to the common good.

TEMPLE OF THE LIVING EARTH

Guiding Principles of Earth/Gaian-Centered Spirituality

Honor Earth/Gaia as a Sacred site and partake of her Fruit joyfully and gratefully. Honor the Life Force in ALL. Honor your body, hearth, and workplace as Temples of the Divine.

Live every moment as a Sacred Act in Alignment with Divine Source as you know and experience It.

Know Self as a unique, actualized, multi-dimensional, regenerative Being of unlimited creative and loving potential within the Cosmic Whole.

Live open-mindedly, thinking and feeling independently, for the Greatest Good. Unlearn false and outmoded teachings and conditionings. Gratefully exercise the gift of the right of free will, responsibly and honestly.

Live in Freedom by breaking through form into formless form into Spirit and Wholeness.

Know the Silence and merge with It. Honor the creative power of the Word. Avoid unnecessary, unclear verbiage and waste of the priceless Breath of Life.

Live and speak the Highest Truth, as you know it, moment-to-moment, for the Highest Good. Honor and encourage the Highest Truth of others in the darkness and the light.

Stimulate inner awareness and multi-sensory perceptions to heighten communication with ALL LIFE and enhance Cosmic consciousness. Commune with Father Sky and Mother Earth as directly and respectfully as a Loving Child communes with Loving Parents.

Commit to the Sacred Marriage through inner union of the Divine Feminine and Divine Masculine, of feeling and thought.

Live responsibly in co-creative, co-operative partnership with the Earth, Nature and One Another.

Live in Balance, Beauty, Love, Harmony and Good Humor.

Live attentively. Trust, attune and respond to the synchronistic Life Process.

Live in the natural flow of Abundance, Simplicity and All Good Things. Give and receive generously.

Appreciate and honor Earth. As a Priestess or Priest ask Earth to open its Living Temple wisdom to you.

Ask Earth how you can more deeply honor and work with her as a Priest/ess in her Living Temple.

Earth Primary Power

From the time you are born your earthly body container grows and develops until you become strong enough to fully stand on your own in life as a fully individuated being.

It is only through the power of your individual “body container” that you receive the gift of creating on your own. Expressing the unique way Spirit moves through you into form. As you grow your job is to learn to stand on your “own two feet” in the world.

Activate Earth's Primary Power as a Priestess

- Earth is literally the ground you stand on.
- You are learning to stand your ground...standing on your own as an individuated spark of Spirit creating in the world of form.
- Dance to activate Earth's Primary Power to Stand on Your Own as a Priestess.
- Connect to your legs after the dance and see if they have anything to tell you about standing on your own in life.
